

Triumph Business Systems has reported an increase in sales. The storage designer and manufacturer, which has recently won contracts with the Home Office and HSBC, announced an annual increase in sales from £17m to £19.5m in the past financial year. The company says the increase is due to the launch of new products, despite difficult trading conditions due to the pressure from the price of steel, which is used in its products.