The front cover of this month's Interior Channels features the Cross Keys building at 16 St John Street, EC1.

Originally a pub in the heart of London's Clerkenwell, it is right next door to The Gate, that well known industry watering hole.

It is now the new London Showroom for Triumph - a leader in steel storage for the UK furniture industry.

Spread over five floors, the space has been completely refurbished to make an innovative showroom, with display and presentation facilities to showcase Triumph's product ranges in action.

Also designed as a complete resource centre for the business, it integrates presentation, training and entertaining areas with plenty of room for bespoke displays for specific project requirements as well.

There is a basement lounge and cafe, and an open air cafe space in the outside courtyard.

This new purpose built environment is exactly the right context for industry prospects to see just how modern, innovative storage and furniture solutions can work together.
