Avero/Achmea Zorgverzekeringen A New Headquarters Building in Amersfoort, Netherlands

The Client Avero/ Achmea Verzekeringen has a staff of 22,000 employees in the Netherlands, serving over one million customers in the personal health insurance sector. Avero/Achmea is responsible for carrying out the requirements under the Exceptional Medical Expenses Act for over three million Dutch citizens. This makes Avero/Achmea one of the largest healthcare insurers in the Netherlands

The Brief Following several mergers over the past few years, there was a need for staff from several different insurance locations to be centralised into one building. There was also a legacy of many different types of storage. The challenge was therefore to create a single solution for document filing and storage, which could combine the requirements of aesthetics, quality and efficiency whilst still being completely user friendly

The Storage Triumph responded with a recommendation for side filers from its flagship range: The L^m Lateral Filing System

The interior design called for islands and blocks of L^m Side Filers in 1100mm high units. They were used in open plan spaces close to the desking, so that they were easy accessible to working areas

The aesthetics were catered for with the well designed seamless carcass of the units in combination with chalk white colour to introduce modernity

The units came with 80kg slide loadings, closed box drawers and anti-tilt locking mechanisms to provide an efficient, easy to use and safe application
