University of East Anglia, Norwich School of Medicine, Health Policy and Practice

An extension building for the Medical School of the University of East Anglia in Norwich. Designed to expand and integrate with the existing range of medical facilities

The Client The University of East Anglia School of Medicine, Health Policy and Practice, on its campus site on the outskirts of Norwich

The Brief A flagship project to provide a new extension building for the University Medical School which could seamlessly integrate into the existing facilities

The Building A new addition over four floors to provide a new clinical trials unit, additional research and teaching space, as well as patient contact areas and interview rooms

The Interior Triumph sourced the supply of all the furniture needed for this specialist fit-out. The University of East Anglia used its membership of the Southern Universities Purchasing Consortium to put its requirements in place through the triumph Campus Furniture Store

The Store acted as a one stop shop for all the furniture applications needed for the site. From desking, seating and storage, to the specialist fit-out of lecture rooms and conference rooms, medical examination suites, soft seating areas and cafe facilities. Triumph even provided special children's furniture for the Child Health areas

The Furniture Triumph worked with Boss Design to provide its Raft, Digit and Dream seating; and with Morris Furniture, to supply its Oracle range of desking

The Storage Triumph's Metrix range was used for the requisite cupboard storage space, backed by its Everyday filing cabinets
